

HEART OF THE SUMMER SEASON BRINGS WITH IT MUCH PLEASURE FOR HOMESTAYING EL PASOANS

By OLLIE P. LANDSEN.

COMES the very heart of the summer season and with it much of pleasure in the social world, for El Paso is not too warm by any means for the numerous informal parties which are making pleasant the season.

As one of the city's most prominent matrons said the other day, "I never stayed in El Paso before during the summer and I really did not know just how pleasant home could be in the warm days." She has a big, cool house, a machine and all of the comforts which can be offered by home alone and, with her holidays, is staying right there through the hot days and her husband goes home from business each evening to his rest, a good dinner and all of the comforts which would be denied were the family away. And although it would seem from the news columns that almost everyone is away for the summer, yet such is not the case, for wherever one goes one sees an interesting and very much alive set of home-stayers.

Those who remain at home are not to be altogether denied social diversions of the coming week.

As usual there will be any amount of pleasure for the weekend. Mrs. Alfred Kraft's studio tea this afternoon to honor her sister, Mrs. Gilbert of New York city, is a most interesting event with 50 guests called.

For the evening a large party will be given for Miss Nancy Edwards, her fiancé, Capt. Hans K. Klopfer, and Col. George T. Lanchester, commanding officer of the Eighth cavalry, by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bryan and their niece, Miss Anne Sefton MacIntosh, of Knoxville, Tenn. The guests will include, besides those who are being honored, a group of visiting girls and bachelors of the Eighth cavalry.

For the evening, also, there is dancing at the Mission hall. The dancing club will give a dance in usual custom this evening at Mission hall, West Yuleta. Any number of El Pasoans will go out of the city for a brief stay over Sunday, motoring to Cloudcroft or Elephant Butte dam, which is proving one of the most popular spots for weekend trips.

Diamond Jewelry

Choice New Creations in Platinum—
Judge a Diamond by Its Setting!

How often this is the case, and what a real difference a beautiful platinum setting makes. Our present display includes the very latest creations designed with rare skill, and priced moderately.

A $750 Pendant

A new creation just from our workshop is an exquisite platinum mounted pendant. The base of this pendant is hexagonal in shape, the center of which is a beautiful emerald diamond surrounded by smaller blue white diamonds. The upper part of the pendant is graduated and contains four small emerald diamonds surrounded by small blue white stones. This was specially designed by our expert, and is an exquisite piece of jewelry, it is attractively priced at $750.

We make a specialty of re-mounting and re-setting old jewelry. Special designs will be submitted upon request.

For Monday evening there is planned a sing-song and spelling bee at Ashbury Methodist church, to be given by the Woman's Missionary society of the church.

To determine who are the better spellers, the men or the women, promises to provide plenty of amusement, and other features will make the party a happy one.

Many of the organizations have not ceased holding meetings through the summer months and on Tuesday afternoon the Social club of the White Shrine of Jerusalem will meet with Mrs. Julia A. Sharp, 205 Herald building.

For Tuesday evening there is to be a meeting of the Business Women's club of the Y. W. C. A. at the central building and at this session the club will appoint its delegate to the Eastern Y. W. C. A. conference to be held in August.

Mrs. John Hicks will entertain with a tea on Wednesday afternoon to honor Miss Nancy Edwards, whose wedding is one of the most important events of the July social calendar. Two other of the prettiest parties of the week will complement Miss Edwards, including the luncheon to be given on Thursday by Miss Virginia Moore and the tea next Saturday when Miss Mary Hardie will be hostess.

Miss Virginia Giraud, New Orleans Visitor, Is To Give Dancing Party

ONE of the most important affairs of the coming week is the dancing party to be given on Tuesday evening at Mission hall, West Yuleta, by Miss Virginia Giraud, of New Orleans, who is an interesting addition to the younger set taking an active part in many of the happy summer affairs. Miss Giraud is spending an indefinite time in the city and she and the other members of the Giraud family have taken a suite in the Piper apartments, 406 North Oregon.

The Red Cross house at Fort Bliss was the scene of a pretty dancing party given on Friday evening for the men of the base hospital here. It was in the nature of a farewell to the local staff, P. B. Bowling and Gilbert Watta, who leave for their homes in Illinois during the coming week. These three young men have been stationed at the base hospital for the past year.

Three members of the 42d field artillery furnished music for the dancing. These were Corp. Benito, at piano; Sgt. Canan, with violin, and Pvt. Frank Rose, at the drums. Miss J. A. Smith also played the piano for three of the dances. The floor was in charge of Pvt. C. A. Eastner.

The chapters for the affair were Mrs. J. A. Hunt, Mrs. B. Mathias and Mrs. J. A. Lee. The Red Cross hostess, Mrs. Beatrice Collinson, received the guests, among whom were: Mr. and Mrs. Philip Baker, Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Clark, Mrs. J. M. Smith, Mrs. C. Collinsworth, Misses Rhea Shea, Mabel Shea, Yvonne Baker, Marjorie Gesslin, Myrtle Lee, Mary Marie, L. M. Page, Margaret Gray, Rhea Wells, Helen Herbert, Din Smith, Elva Bell, Eva Shepard, Mabel Mathias, Maud Clemens and Walter Pettibone.

The dance given on Friday evening at Mission hall, West Yuleta, by the men of the reclamation service was a very enjoyable affair and attended by a number of guests from both city and valley. The "Sundoggers" orchestra furnished music for the dancing hours.

O. E. S. Official To Return

MRS. MAGGIE B. MOODY, of Corpus Christi, grand matron of the Order of Eastern Star of Texas, a much honored guest in the city while here for a visit to the local O. E. S. chapters. Mrs. Moody, who was the guest of Dr. Mattie L. Hill while in the city, will return in October to preside at the meeting of the Texas grand chapter of the O. E. S. to be held in this city from the 11th to the 14th.

Mrs. B. M. Worsham Will Give Tea Complimentary To Miss McClenahan

To honor her guest, Miss Frances McClenahan, of San Francisco, Mrs. B. M. Worsham is giving a tea of informal, but pretty detail this afternoon at the Worsham home on Montana street.

Daisies in their beautiful gold and white tints were selected by the hostess as the blossoms of decoration and they are employed in artistic profusion throughout the reception suite. They are here, there and everywhere in bowls and vases and embossed on mantels, in windows and about the furniture.

Salads and ices are served from a lace covered table in the dining room, which is centered with a great French blue basket of daisies.

Fifty guests are calling for the country to the interesting honor guest.

One of the happiest of the weekend affairs was a progressive luncheon followed by a movie party, given by a group of the younger set Saturday to honor Miss Elizabeth Hoey, who is here after an absence of several years, and for Mrs. S. J. Gailin's guest, Miss Louise Green, and Miss Mary Kramphor of California.

Miss Ruth Schwartz was hostess for the first course of the luncheon service at the Schwartz home. From there the party motored to the home of Miss Sadie Ruth Aldridge, where the second course was served, and the third and fourth courses were served at the Magoffin home with Miss Mary and Miss Anne Magoffin as hostesses. Later the party attended the movies as the guests of Miss Katherine White, and Miss Virginia Giraud was hostess at the tea hour when refreshments were served at the Ellis.

Mrs. Van C. Wilson is receiving a few friends at the Wilson home this afternoon in honor of Miss Elizabeth Page, who is here from the Page home in Los Angeles for a visit to friends. Fragrant flowers from the garden decorate the reception rooms of the Wilson home and salads and ices from a service of dainty appointments were to be dispensed at tea time.

Those present for the pretty courtesy to Miss Page are her mother, Mrs. Mary T. Page, and her sister, Miss Sallie Page, who are also here for a visit. Mrs. J. Hise Myers, Mrs. Claude Bailey, Mrs. H. O. Mantor, Miss

Miss Juanita Glaze, who is spending her vacation at Gilbert, Ariz., with her aunt, Mrs. L. C. Burke. Miss Glaze and her grandmother will leave for San Diego, Calif., in a few weeks to be joined by her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Glaze, and brother, who reside at 1113 North Virginia street. Mrs. Glaze will remain in California indefinitely. Miss Glaze spent the past winter with her aunt at Gilbert, attending high school there.

Members Of B. B. S. Club Plan Party Soon In Honor Of Miss Jane Burges

THE members of the B. B. S. club are planning an honor affair to be given at an early future date to compliment Miss Jane Burges, who has recently returned from Bryn Mawr to join her father, Maj. Richard Burges. The exact nature of the party has not been decided upon, as several of the club members are out of the city for the next few days. Miss Burges was made a member of the club before her arrival in the city.

Miss Mabel Weston was hostess at an amusing costume party on Friday evening to honor her guest, Miss Catherine Eckerle, of Louisville, Ky. Mrs. G. W. Weston, Miss Weston's mother and Mrs. F. Eckerle, mother of the honor guest, assisted with the evening's hospitality. The guests played dumbo during the first portion of the evening while dancing was the diversion of the remaining hours. Punch was served during the evening and ices and cake at the intermission.

The guests present were: Misses Helen Madlen, Ermen Markgraf, Rhoda Golden, Lili Sartorius, Myrtle Pangburn, Marguerite Paul, Nellie Hargrove, Ruth Osborne, Pauline Eck, Muriel Berg, Lovette Cassena, Shirley Stahman, Mr. and Mrs. Lester
